

Clean Energy

Emerging markets (excluding China) need $69 trillion by 2050 to meet net-zero targets, with major annual investments in clean energy infrastructure and demand systems.

The number of emerging markets with clean energy policies on the books reached a new high this year.

As of mid-2024, 95% of emerging markets had a clean energy target in place.

Source: <https://about.bnef.com/insights/clean-energy/emerging-markets-make-headway-on-clean-energy-policy-and-investment-but-trillions-more-needed-for-net-zero-bloombergnef-reveals/>

To learn more, contact Global Delta Capital at info@globaldeltacapital.com.